Montreat, North Carolina

Agapé 1989

Volume 16

“Enter his gates with thanksgiving, and his courts with praise!
Give thanks to him, praise His name!”
Psalm 100:4

AGAPE

As you enter the gates of Montreat, it is as if entering a different world. To many, the gate symbolizes a new beginning, a time to start to prepare for the jump into society. For others it is as if entering a magical world where all their dreams can come to life. Entering the gate, which seems to have stood there for millions of years, is a sense of coming closer to God and one just feels the burdens lifted. Behind the gates is found an institution to higher education, some people call it home. Whether they are here to achieve an Associate's degree and move on or enjoy the new Bachelors program, Montreat-Anderson College has something to offer everyone.

At Montreat "A friend loves at all times ..." (Prov. 17:17); Boo Berry and Leslie Blow are a perfect example.

Harry Ryan and Sam Wheeler ponder various aspects of life over tacos at Annabelle's.

Rodney House, Robert Bullard, Brylan Gann and Warren Turnipseed study hard for their mid-term exam.

Confused? Your not alone Matt is puzzled by the antics of his good friend Mellissa.

Upperclassmen, Carol Fox and Missy Clark, provide entertainment during freshman orientation.

Friendship is one of God's most beautiful gifts. Kristine Buckwalter and Kevin Harris.

LIFE AT MONTREAT

Though we all gather for the common purpose of education, Montreat holds a special meaning that goes much deeper than that primary goal. Montreat is green mountains. It's fresh white water over flat rocks. It's a pool of blue sky that has no bottom. It's fiery color spilled across hills. It's dogwoods fresh and blooming. It's the smell of a fireplace in the cold crisp night air. It's snow white stillness and icy window panes.

Montreat is rickety bridges that creak when walked upon. Montreat is the sound of rushing water when you're on your knees in the prayer porch. Montreat is stone walls that ooze nostalgia and history. Montreat is the still dark waters of Lake Susan telling stories of those who gazed on it last. Montreat is trees and trees and trees. Tall, strong, fresh, trees with deep unwavering roots. Montreat has been here since the dawn of time hasn't it?

Montreat is community. Montreat is building lasting relationships. It's a thousand different activities and feelings and memories packed into a small amount of time. Montreat is every emotion all jumbled together. Montreat is people. Montreat is "nearer my God to thee." Montreat is more than a place, it's sentiment, love, giving, in one of its purest forms.

Caroline Johnson, Michelle Thomas and Carol Fox have learned that Montreat offers an environment where they can use their job as R.A.'s to become close to each other.

Tracy Sauls and Kevin Rupert spend some time by Lake Susan on a secluded bench, a nice place to talk and share.

International Students are offered a good opportunity to learn and grow at Montreat. Peter Silen, Kassahun Wondim, Samuel Barari and Zerubabel Dimetros spend time together.

Linda Delgado, Beth Whitlock and Cuong Giang take some time in between classes to relax.

Jim Hart, Kent Hughes, and Beth Garret make the long hike up look-out mountain to enjoy the scenery.

Graduation is a special time at Montreat, and Associate grads, such as Lynette England, often return to pursue a Bachelor's degree.

Knox Bridges and Susan Groves sit on the ever popular porch of MA-Hall.

FRESHMAN ORIENTATION

Dear Mom and Dad;

I'm having the best time! I would never have thought it would be this great! Awesome is the best word to describe it!!!

So, how are ya'll? Don't miss me too much! Just Kidding! (I'm trying not to lose my sense of humor — I'm picking up a few good jokes from a senior here, Greg Ferrell.) You would like him Dad, he tells jokes just like you do! All of the people here are extremely friendly — although right now it's mostly freshmen.

Classes haven't started yet, but we are being tested massively for placement. Registration was rough and we have to stand in lines to fill out multiple forms, but it's a good way to meet people. Another good place to socialize is the cafeteria, which serves food just like mom's! (still practicing) They found a good way to get me to eat salad — serving trout or chuckwagon burgers! They keep telling me to watch for the "Freshman 15", but I haven't got any care packages — Hint, Hint!

Seriously though, I am having a great experience here so far and I've been so busy I haven't had the chance to get homesick. I miss you both and I love you, but pray for me as I will be praying for God to give me strength to face this new experience. Write Back! (cobwebs forming in mailbox!)

Love Always —
Your favorite Montreatian

David Miller welcomes a new addition to the Montreat family, Sandra Boemler, with open arms.

Liz Martin, Linda Delgado and Ali Martin get back to the basics as they entertain the freshman class.

The Davis R.A.'s and R.D. get ready to welcome in the new recruits. Dorm life is a very important part of the college scene.

M-A Hall women are tough but these leaders were found ready and waiting for the job.

You think you had it rough? Raggedy Ann can't seem to escape the freshman death grip from Phillip Hollins and Todd Hotet.

NORTH CAROLINA

It's a land of enchantment, a land where every day you look into the face of God. The Blue Ridge Mountains of western North Carolina have all you could ask for. To deny the existence of a supernatural creator as you view the horizon here in Montreat is a crime of the greatest degree.

The rebirth of a mountain springtime, the fresh breezes of summer, panoramic mountain colors in the fall, and the purity of new snow every winter; all these things leave one surrounded by thought provoking beauty. From the top of Mt. Mitchell all the way down to Lake Susan, there is a genuineness you will find nowhere else.

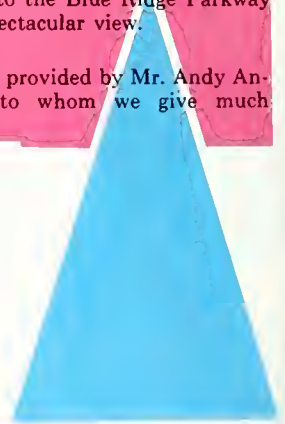

Without a doubt, Montreat is a gift of God, a beautiful painting surrounding by a frame of mountains, valleys and streams. It is a gift which should daily remind us of the artist. "I lift up my eyes to the hills — where does my help come from? My help comes from the Lord, the Maker of Heaven and earth (Ps 121:1)"

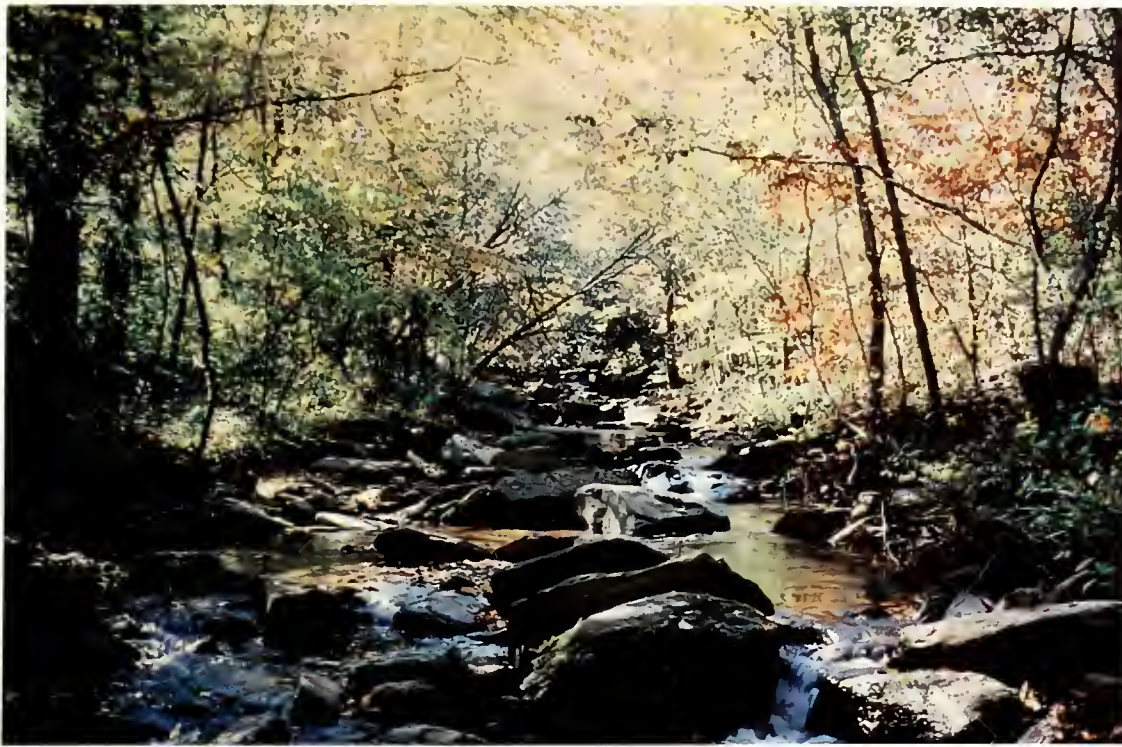

by: Jeff Kuhn

Montreat has beautiful colors and mountains right on campus, or one can go to the Blue Ridge Parkway for a spectacular view.

Pictures provided by Mr. Andy Andrews, to whom we give much thanks.

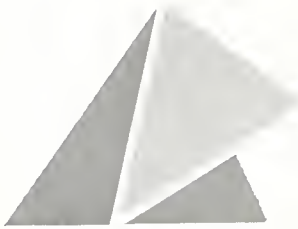

The streams which flow through Montreat are wonderful for rock-hopping, playing or just sitting observing the beauty of God's creation.

Kris, Becky, and Jackie relax after dinner, showing the beauty of Montreat and it's campus.

HOME COMING 1988

There is a light breeze in the valley. The rainy season is coming to an end and the autumn leaves are just beginning to burst into blazing flames of color. Old friends reminisce on the wonderful days of yesteryear. The mountains beckon and you know it's time — to come home.

Our Homecoming weekend begins with a square dance on Friday night. Everyone cheerfully do-ce-do's as Sean Wilson does the calling. Any of western background we might definitely come to light here. Even the most civilized and most sophisticated are yelling things like "Howdy!" and "Yee-haw!"

And, as if the Square Dance wasn't enough, Saturday's victorious soccer game against Young Harris, with a final score of 3-2, definitely puts a spark of sheer excitement in the air. With a few great saves from Wes Mathis and players like Jeff Wilcox, Tom Bashara, and Peter Silen, we were assured great effort and a terrific game. Teamwork was definitely the key factor in their victory.

Liz Martin is crowned Homecoming Queen for 1988.

The biggest event of the weekend, perhaps, was the dance Saturday night in Anderson Auditorium. Anticipation is running high and with it brings promise for new romance and old friends revisited. When given the chance, hand-in-hand, starry-eyed lovers gently glide across the dance floor. Then, as the melody changes, all others answer their call and rush suddenly back to dance to a faster beat. Finally, the time comes to announce the Homecoming Court. The crowd is still and everyone awaits patiently. Leslie Blow is chosen as Maid of Honor and an excited Liz Martin is crowned Queen. The glowing elegance of the evening is almost over. Even through the cool night air, everyone leaves with a warm feeling of friendship and love. The evening's enchantment has ended and a memory has been made.

FRIENDS

God has given us,
So many treasures in this life,
Some we don't even realize.
But what greater treasure,
Could anyone ask for,
Than the friend I've found in you.
What would my life be,
Had you not been that friend to me.
I can't imagine going through life,
Without meeting you.

Cause your my friend.
And I thank God above,
That your my friend.
The kind I'm not likely to forget.
As the years go by,
You'll be always on my mind.
Cause your my friend.

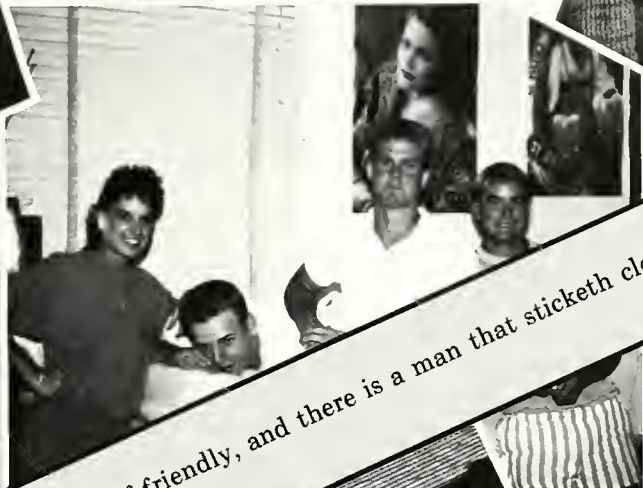

You've been that one,
I know I can talk to,
About every little corner of my life.
We laughed together,
And many times we've cried.
Now I just want to Thank You.
Cause you've shared your life to me
And I know it's pain to see,
You know me so much better,
Than anyone has before.

No matter how life separates us —
Your my Friend!

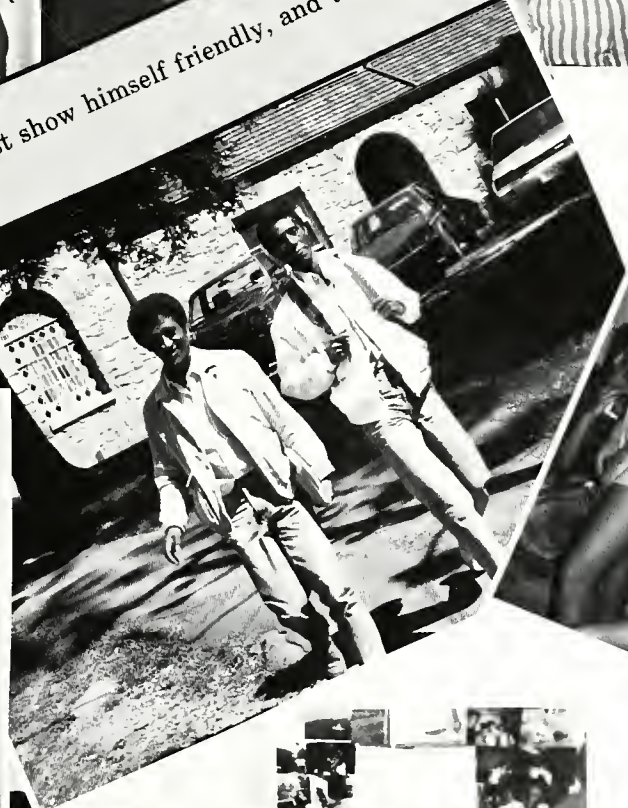

Greg Howard

Practical love is a true sign of friendship. Friends of Laurie never want to express their love for her through the use of toilet paper.

"A Man that hath friends must show himself friendly, and there is a man that sticketh closer than a brother."
Proverbs 18:24

LOOKING UPWARD

Billy Sprague was the opening concert at Montreat and taught us that Life is hard, but God is Good. "La Via Esta Dure, Mais Dieu est Bon."

Montreat-Anderson College offers a wonderful opportunity for one to deepen their love for the Lord and share their faith. A number of ministries are available for one to be involved in, as well as prayer meetings and support groups. The Student Christian Association has several community ministries as well as a large group fellowship, Vespers. Concerts are a special time in which the students can praise and worship through music and dance. A special thing about Montreat is that one can always find a retreat in which to spend some quiet time with our Heavenly Father. Montreat offers a chance to grow spiritually through these groups, Christian fellowship or just the peaceful surroundings which magnifies God's Love.

Tammy Eliot was a special guest at vespers, who touched our hearts through her music and message.

Spiritual Emphasis is a week of reflection and guidance for our Christian walk. This year the speaker was Dr. Hughes from Wheaton, Ill.

Several of the projects which were worked on was a house in the country reconstructed in one day; and a house of 12 where a kitchen was added on.

The Jamaica crew was a diverse group of individuals chosen by President Vaughn. These were: Tim Valasco, Ann Travis, Guy Bishop, Janet Grogan, Jeremy Jones, Mickey McKinney, Doug Beldon, Tracey Sauls, Todd Holtet, Michelle Thomas, Paula Johnson, Jimmy Smith and Jim Pritchard.

Jamaica

An island where tourists flock to see the crystal clear water and beautiful sunsets, with a culture so interesting, but is a facade to a land of poverished people. Jamaica. A place where they offer love freely, and accept people, regardless of color or religion. They look out for their neighbors and share all of their possessions, no matter how few they are. Jamaica. Craving for religion, churches, or basically the word from God whom they seek to know and love.

A group of thirteen students were sponsored on a special trip to do relief work after Hurricane Gilbert tore across the small island. They spent a week in several areas of the island near Montego Bay, working on eight projects. In each area they distributed clothes, food, and a most valuable item, soap. The work was hard, but the group enjoyed their time in this land of hope.

In only a week the group became attached to Jamaica, its people and its culture. They felt a bond which was formed and a desire to continue to help even after returning to their own land. Through this special trip, Montreat-Anderson became aware of an incredible place which will in the future be an emphasis of mission and prayer.

HARVEST FESTIVAL

Dr. Tisa Lewis before and after the Pie Throwing, sponsored by the Junior Class.

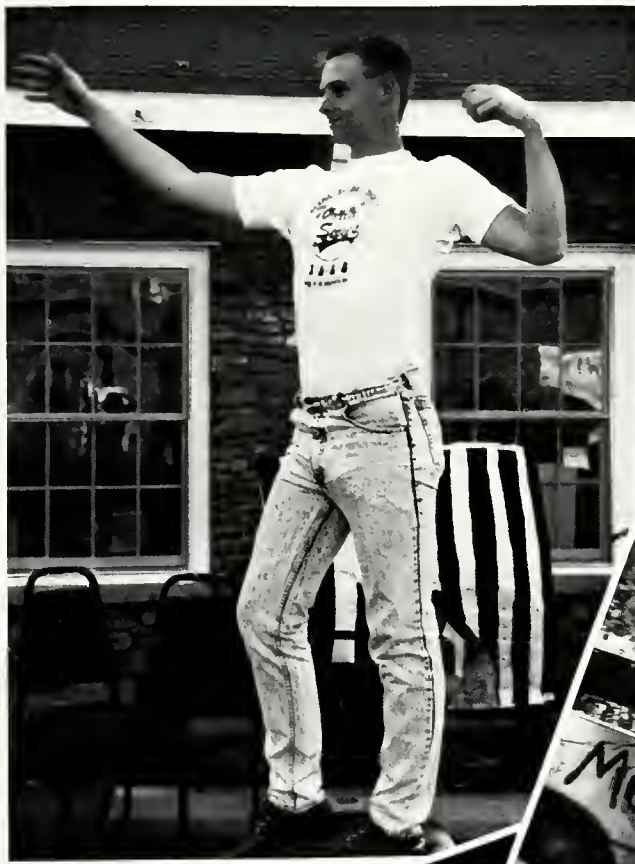

The second annual Harvest Festival was held on the weekend of October 28-30. The Harvest Festival is a time to celebrate the beginning of fall and gives the college and the community surrounding to have fun together. Each dorm and club set up a booth in the parking lot outside of the cafeteria to raise money. Some of the booths included a dunking booth, a pie throw, and a "jail". The Mid-South Boys were there to participate in the activities and helped wrap up the weekend with a concert in Gaither.

DAVIS

When someone even mentions the word "Davis" to anyone at Montreat it brings without fail, a certain amount of excitement. Davis Hall is indeed an exciting place to live due to the energetic, happy, and unique young men who reside here. Continually adding Flavor and variety to life, not only to the dormitory itself, but also to the entire college campus, Davis Hall is on top of the situation.

We, the men on the hill, are allowed to live our own individual lives in an atmosphere of togetherness with the other residents of the dorm. This provides the men with much fellowship, and many unique activities to greatly add to one's college experience.

Good location, good guys — we've got it made here at the Hilton. If you haven't made your reservations to stay in this fine abode, do so, while there are still vacancies for next year. Howerton Hall. The Daddy Domicile.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The purpose of SGA is to be the voice of the student body; to act as a liason between the administration and the students; and to conduct whatever business needed to be addressed in a fashion that will glorify the Lord Jesus Christ.

As of the current standing of the SGA we've already had a "red-letter" year! Some exciting things have been accomplished and other possibilities are just around the corner. It seems SGA was involved in all facets of the college first semester — the Board of Trustees, the Admissions Department, concerns of Convocation/Chapel, the Harvest Festival, etc.

To the individual members of SGA, it is a challenge to see the things that are involved in running a college and how we as students can help make Montreat-Anderson the best private college in the North Carolina mountains. Being a part of SGA stretches the leadership of its members and widens their scopes of understanding. SGA is a lucrative body, active, moving, and working for you.

HONOR COURT

The Honor Court is an actual student court set up to hear cases that involve violations of the Honor Code of Montreat-Anderson College. It is a branch of the Student Government Association and consists of 2 faculty advisors and eight student representatives. It has the power to make decisions on cases brought to it and decide on appropriate disciplinary action to take. Its primary purpose is to be an example to students to take the Honor Code seriously and live on their honor.

Members of the Honor Court: Stephanie Thomas, Ali Martin, Beth Whitlock, Matt Auten, Trey Aycock, Greg Howard, Dee Dasburg, Fred Sibley.

Phi Theta Kappa

Phi Theta Kappa is the National Honor Society of Jr. and Community colleges whose purpose is to recognize and encourage scholarship among two year college students. To achieve this purpose, Phi Theta Kappa provides opportunities for the development of leadership and service, for an intellectual climate for the exchange of ideas and ideals, for lively fellowship for scholars, and for stimulation of interest in continuing academic excellence.

Students of the Mir Lambda Chapter of Phi Theta Kappa in Montreat Anderson College is responsible for holding an annual Fine Arts Festival each spring, which gives the college faculty, students, and Montreat residents an opportunity to appreciate the artistic and literary talent in the community.

The Student Christian Association presents opportunities for spiritual growth to all students and challenges them to become involved in a ministry using the gifts and talents the Lord has given them — for HIS glory. President Jeff Kuhn said of S.C.A.: "It makes me look at what each student needs spiritually, and evaluate what the S.C.A., through the leading of the Holy Spirit, can do about it."

There are a number of ministry's which are provided by the S.C.A., which students can be involved in. These range from a Big Brother/Big Sister program at the Children's Home to a ministry for the Mentally Handicapped at the Black Mountain Center. A ministry to the Juvenile Evaluation Center focuses on building relationships with those who are otherwise unloved. This also applies to the ministry of Dogwood manor, a retirement home. Within the school itself, the S.C.A. provides support groups for the students. It keeps them up to date on missions around the world and current mission opportunities. Vespers is also a big part which is a weekly event which uplifts the students through singing, prayer and Instruction. S.C.A. works hard to provide a ministry to or for every student and use the talents which the Lord has given them.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is an organization on campus geared toward the athletes, coaches and fans. It offers a chance to have fellowship through games, huddle groups and Bible studies. Speakers are brought in on occasion to share with the group of individuals who have participated and encouraged our athletic events at the school. Under the leadership of Co-Presidents Lori Reel and Tom McMurtry, the club has provided a chance to share the Word of the Lord and fellowship with athletes growing in their Faith.

Tom McMurtry, President of F.C.A.

F.C.A. had a booth at the Harvest Festival dealing with minor athletic competitions.

Student Activities

Alice Martin paints signs, a big duty of the student activities Committee.

To a freshman away from home for the first time, the prospect of being restricted to campus for the first three weekends automatically arouses the frightful questions — What will I do? Where can I go? Who can I go with? Help was on the way, though, and thanks to the Student Activities Committee, these questions were answered. The year came in with a bang in McGregor, where the first “bash” took place and the freshmen got to know each other better. Another highlight was the Kim Boyce concert, which had everyone out of their seats, dancing in the aisles.

Homecoming weekend was the best ever. Kicking it off was the square dance, then the victorious soccer game, and the dance. These are just several of the weekends which were coordinated by the Student Activities Committee. Their responsibility was to provide activities for every weekend throughout the school year. This ranged from holiday activities, (Christmas caroling, Easter egg hunt, Valentines dance) to tie-dye parties, movies, dances and a number of other activities. Paula Johnson headed up the committee which made each weekend at M-AC an entertaining one.

Kevin participates in the Parents Weekend activities, a time when students share their talents.

For the Black Mountain Christmas Parade the student Activities made a wonderful float symbolizing the real reason of Christmas. Paula Johnson shows the First place prize which it won.

AGAPE

The 1988-89 Agape was an edition produced by a staff of hard-working individuals under the direction of co-editors Michelle Thomas and Marc Duarte. Creating a yearbook is as if writing a history book. The staff had to take extra time to pick the best pictures which would represent our school year. Although it is hard to get everyone, the staff worked to achieve this goal. To do this the student body was incorporated to help by way of pictures, quotes and helping in other ways. The yearbook staff created a book which would hold a special place in the memories of each member of Montreat-Anderson College.

The Agape staff: Amy Shue, Meris Nye, Michelle Thomas, Brad Owens, Kim Holt, William Hu, Marc Duarte, Stephanie Schaefer, Carolina Johnson.

Nancy Nichols, Editor.

ALETHEIA

The Aletheia was an astounding success with the students this year. The articles were well-written and extremely informative. To have students as well as faculty eagerly awaiting the arrival of the latest issue was a compliment paid to the people behind each printing. Editor Nancy Nichols shouldered much of the burden of deciding what went into the Aletheia. And even though the printer was less than cooperative, she always came through with an exemplary effort. This year's Aletheia has been an experience that will remain in the hearts (and even a few scrapbooks) of all the people it affected.

The Aletheia Staff: Garrett Stanfield, Kevin Auman, Dr. Rich Gray, Heather Edwards, Shannon Hodgins, Nancy Nichols (editor), Jim Pritchard, and Brad Owens.

INTERNATIONAL

Peter Silen, David and William Hu, Melania Aguirre, Andrew Motaung, Ryoko Murata, Mrs. Hilliard, Abdul Aden, Yoko Suzuki, Gabriel Zeray.

International Club

The International Club has as its main purpose to build up the relationships among the international students at M-AC and, if it is possible, among the entire student body. Also, as an outgrowth of this purpose, we try to learn more about other countries.

The membership of the club consists of holders of F-1 and J-1 visas. There is a president, a vice-president, and a secretary-treasurer. During the monthly activities, there are guests or special programs, and during the monthly activities, the club goes on field trips, hikes, roller skating, movies, eat pizza, etc. A Bible study group was started in club during the first semester of this year. The club is a great group of people who share their experiences and their friendship.

"It feels great to be part of the International Student Club, where we always have had the opportunity to build up our relationships and to share with others our different experiences and cultures." Melania Aguirre

DRAMA

Greybeard Players: Marie Mueller, Garrett Stanfield, Caroline Johnson, Brad Owens, Kim Holt, Ellen Fairfax, Greg Howard, Kim White, Lynnette England, Trey Aycock, Heather Hodgens.

This year's Greybeard players started off with flying colors when Love's Labour's Lost hit the stage in early October. Despite the anxiety of the cast, it was a remarkable success.

In March, the Greybeard Players will present The Wizard of Oz. Anticipation is running high and once again we are looking forward to a huge success.

LOGOS

Trey Aycock (Ass. Editor) and Greg Howard (EDITOR)

Logos (Lo' gōs Greek. ho logos) — the word:
n. 1. A literary magazine published by students of Montreat-Anderson College for the purpose of giving an outlet to the creative writers on campus. Logos is published annually during the spring semester and features original poetry and short stories composed by the students and other members of the college community.

CHEERLEADERS

The 1988-89 Montreat Cheerleading squad really worked hard this past year to bring school spirit at all of the home soccer and basketball games. To be on the squad each person was first interviewed and screened and then they went thru enduring try-outs in front of several judges. The outcome was a dedicated and talented group of ladies that would lead their teams to victory. The squad had five energetic members who were: Rebecca Burke (captain), Tracy Riddle (co-captain), Cyndy Helms, Kate Shutte, and Shannon Hodgins. Their spirit and attitude of sportsmanship was easy to see in everything they did.

The squad practiced about eight hours a week and it showed. They also found time to fellowship and have fun, too. They were very unified. Cyndy commented, "It's great how well we all get along. We're all great friends on and off the floor."

The cheerleaders sponsored many special events and dinners for not only the soccer and basketball teams, but also the volleyball, softball, tennis and baseball teams! Their desire to support these many different athletic teams was really appreciated by all.

DISCOVERY

Discovery. What does it mean? The title of the Wilderness Program answers itself. Discovery is a time to discover oneself, God, and the wonderful creation which we often overlook in our everyday life. Eighteen days in the Mountains of Western North Carolina provide an exciting adventure full of rock-climbing, canoeing, repelling, and various other recreational items. It provides some time on solo where one can gather thoughts and bring them before the Lord, and reflect upon his Word. This trip is taken in the summer after graduation drawing attention not only from M-AC students, but students from surrounding schools. This time is thought to be a hard time full of struggles, but also very rewarding for the individual who participates. Catherine Martin sums up her eighteen days by stating: "Never has anything been so difficult to endure, but My Lord helped me through it, one step at a time."

Food is a scarce item on Discovery; so Jimmy, Lisa, Spring, Greg and Stephanie savor every bite.

Most of us are very familiar with what we perceive to be our strengths. However without a tempering understanding of our weaknesses, we can be rendered ineffective in God's service. Discovery allowed me to see some weaknesses face to face and drew me closer to both God and others.
Keith Wood

Discovery is like trying to get a drink of water from a fire hose!

Bryan K. Smith '88

Discovery was the ultimate challenge — leaving you completely dependent on the ultimate power of the universe; Almighty God. I'll never forget it.
Jeff Kuhn '87

Discovery not only symbolizes external challenges to me but even more so, internal challenges. The external challenges are only tools for working within.

Melinda Taylor '86

Discovery is an unforgettable experience, with unforgettable lessons.

Amanda Thomas '85

Discovery will be what you want it to be and far more than what you expect it to be.

Lisa Sciarrino '85

The experience of Discovery is something that doesn't end after the 18 days. It's something that becomes a part of you, a part of your attitude.

Brad Owens '87

ASSOCIATE DEGREES

The Associate degrees offered at Montreat-Anderson College help a student get a general education. These degrees are an Associate in Arts and Associate in Science. This provides the student the opportunity to study foreign language or an in depth study in science. This program is designed to cover the core classes of any university. Montreat offers an excellent chance for a student to develop in college before deciding a major field of study.

RECREATION

The Backpacking class takes a weekend trip as part of the class requirements.

The Bachelor of Science degree in Recreation and the Associate degree in Recreation provide a student with the knowledge and understanding of the outdoors. The Recreation major offers training and experience in outdoor recreation in churches, public and private agencies and community recreation. Electives within this program permits individual development in recreational interest areas of camping, wilderness leadership, churches, missions, community organizations, commercial enterprises and other organizations offering recreation programs. The student in this field can choose a major in either Outdoor Recreation or Church and Community Recreation.

HUMAN SERVICES

The Human Services degree has developed out of a need for Family sciences. As well as Child Care and Family Life, the Montreat-Anderson professors in this program offers a diversified choice of opinions while holding to the Christian belief of God being the figurehead of the family. This major blends the basics (theory in human development, educational leadership, etc.) with a practical application of social work and off-campus field studies. An excellent major which will be helpful in our future society.

LIBERAL ARTS

What exactly can you do with a Liberal Arts Degree? You name it. A recent study was released in which more of the people hired for a business position had a major in Liberal Arts as opposed to business. As an important business leader says, "You can teach the skill, but you can't teach the communication". That is exactly what a Liberal Arts graduate from M-AC knows how to do . . . Communicate . . . Jimmy Smith says, "I wanted a Liberal Arts degree because more seminary's favor the broad based education." Many graduate schools will gladly welcome the Liberal Arts degree due to the strong integration of faith, learning and various cultures.

Mark Halstead and Lynnette England participate in a Performance to fulfill the requirements of their Shakespear class.

Dr. Newton has been a member of the faculty for Twenty Three years, and here shows his ability as a Hebrew scholar.

BUSINESS DEGREE

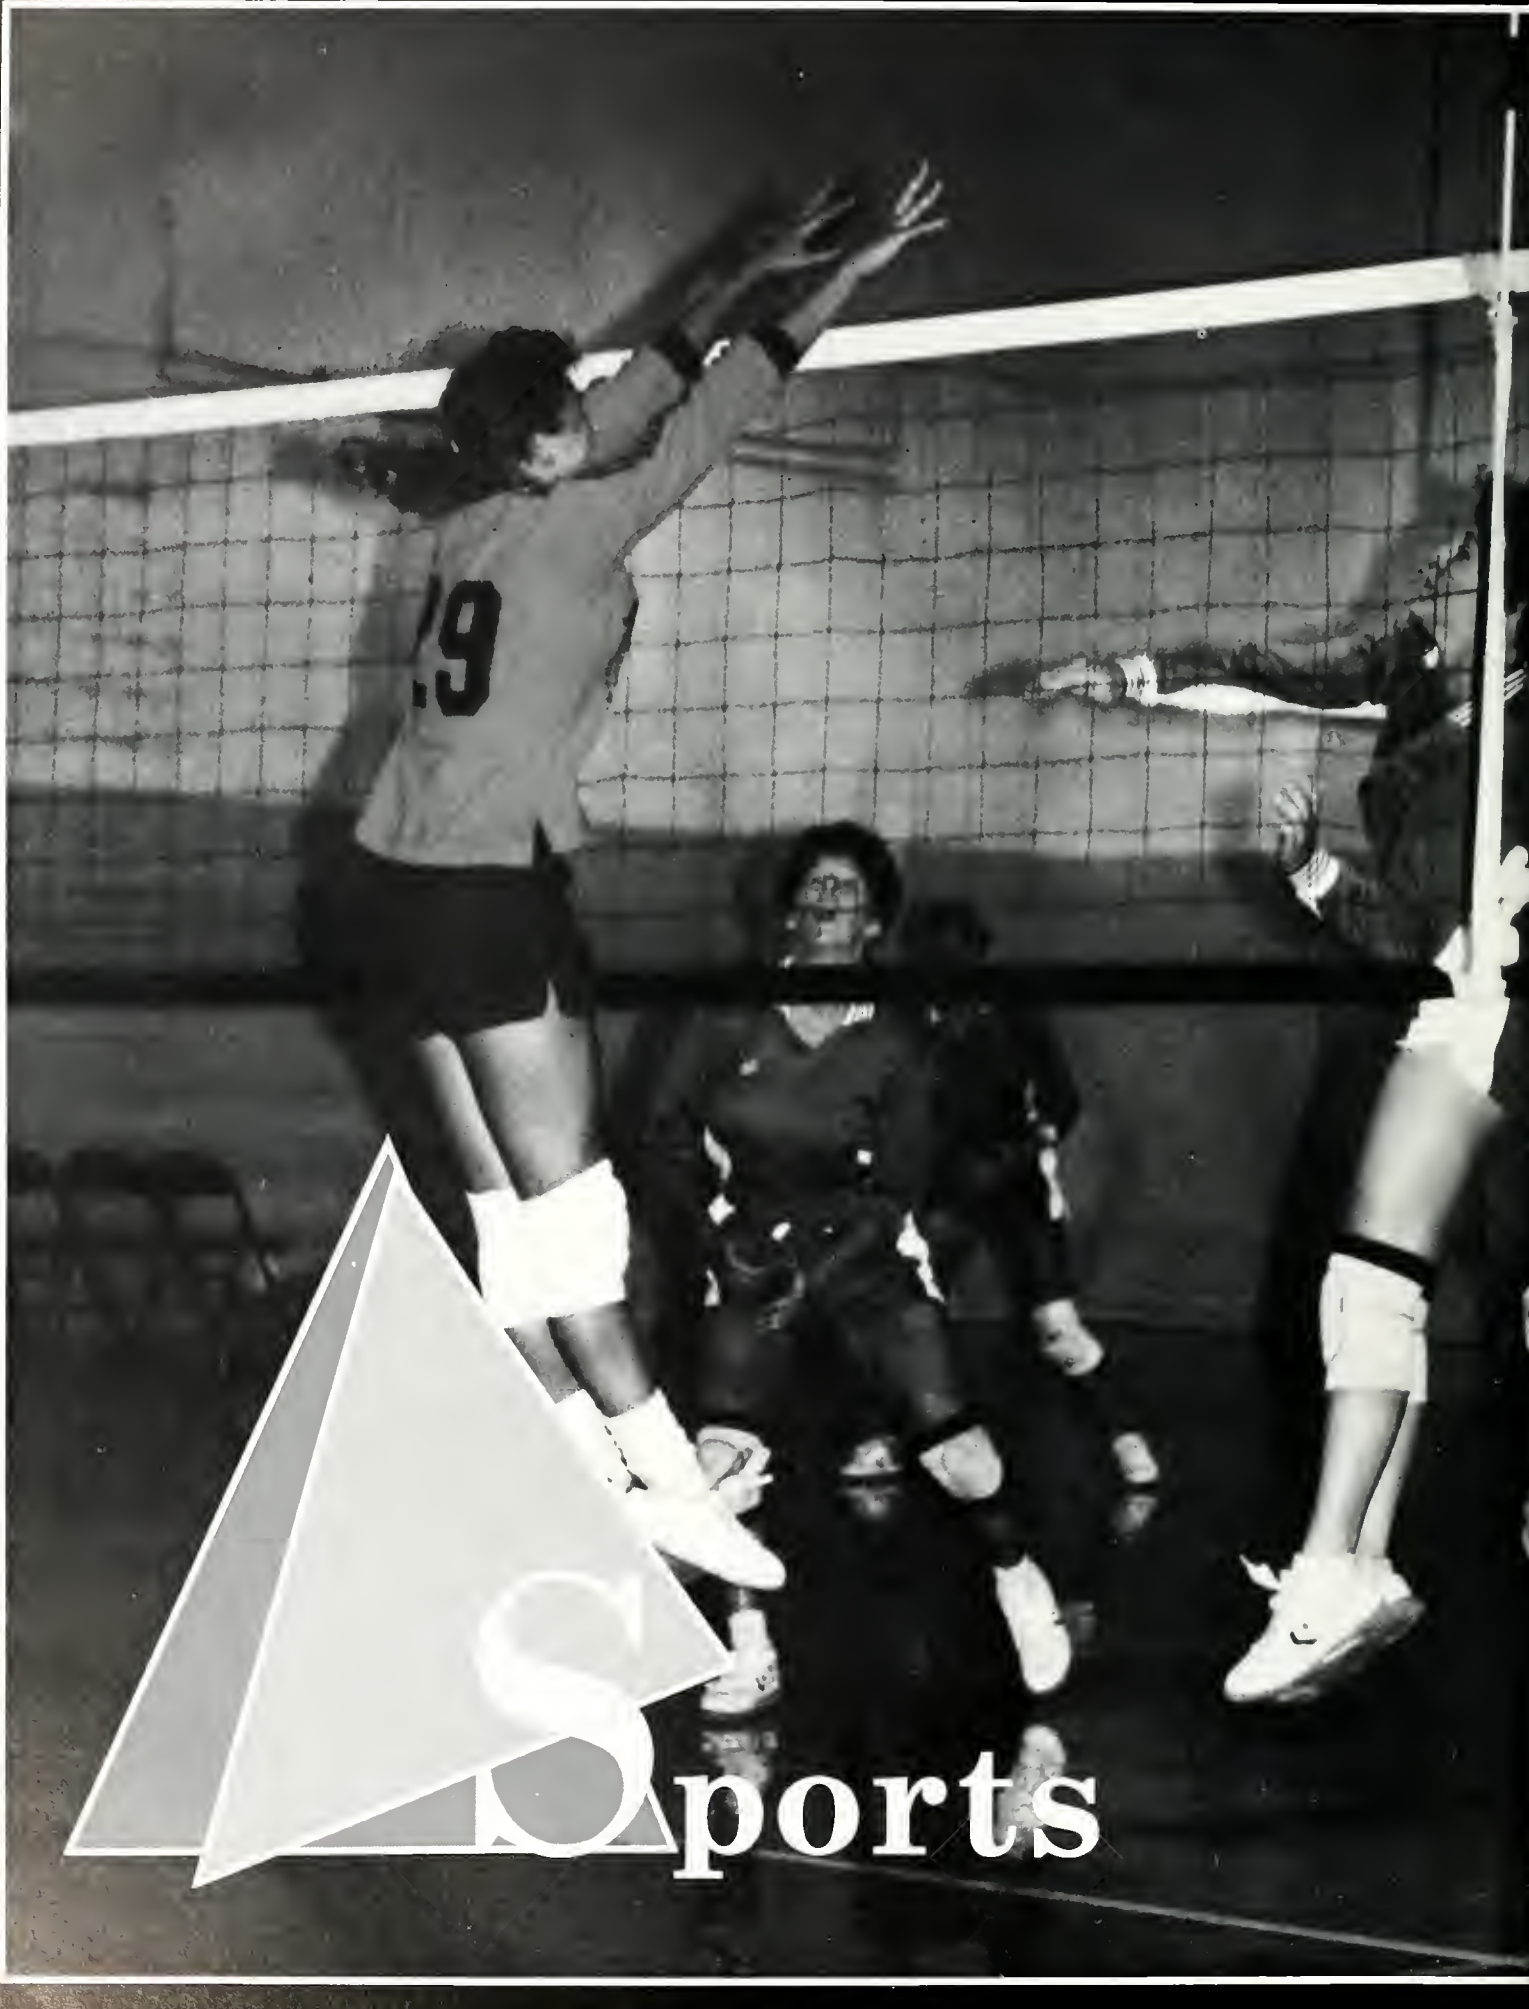

The Bachelor for Science degree in Business Administration is designed for several purposes. It produces graduates who are well-rounded in the free enterprise economic system and possess the broad management philosophy necessary to make a positive contribution in their business efforts. It produces educated citizens and intelligent Christian Business leaders who are motivated to make contributions toward the preservation of our economic system. This degree is also adequate to pursue a degree at the graduate level.

PLAYER

The Yearbook staff would like to honor certain athletes who have been nominated by their coaches and teammates as outstanding players.

LANEY YOUNG

Baseball teams most improved player and All-National District team in 1988.

CAROL ANN FOX

Carol is a skilled athlete, and was selected by her teammates to serve as Co-Captain of the Volleyball team, and Captain of the basketball team. Carol has been active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and was selected as Female Athlete of the Year her sophomore year. She also received the Most Dedicated in Softball that year. As a junior, Carol has contributed experience, hustle, and an intense spirit of competition as she has played all three sports at Montreat. (Coach Neal)

JEFF WILCOX

Jeff was selected as Most Valuable Player his freshman year in Soccer, and was a starting player this past year.

PAULA JOHNSON

Paula has been chosen as a leader by her peers, both on and off the court. Her maturity, sensitivity, and skill made Paula a cohesive force on the volleyball team. Paula has been active in the FCA as Secretary and was selected as Female Athlete of the Year her sophomore year. Paula's sweet spirit and ready smile will be missed when she graduates this spring. (Coach Neal)

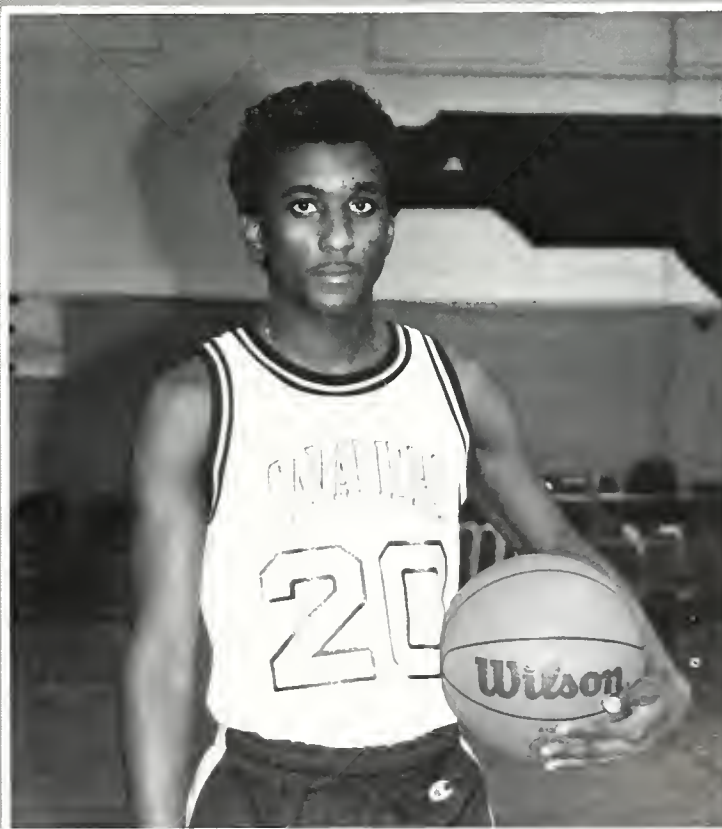

SONJA SAUNOOKE

Sonja participated in all three sports her two years at Montreat receiving Best Defense in both Basketball and Softball in her Freshman year.

BRAD BROWER

Brad Brower was the Basketball teams Defense Award winner last year playing guard.

JOHNNY WILSON

Johnny Wilson was the winner of the F.C.A. Sportsman of the Year. He also received two all-tournaments in his freshman year and the academic award for Basketball.

MEN'S BASKETBALL

The 1988-89 Montreat Anderson Men's Basketball team had an excellent season which showed the true competitive spirit and determination of Cavalier Athletics. The team, coached by Rick Hughes, consisted of many leaders and top notch players. Led by the offense strength of Brad Brower the teams performance ranged to many different degrees, and although the team did not always come away victorious they were sure to offer and action packed contest to their fans.

The season had many high points for the players, one being the exciting game played in defense of the "Little Brown Jug" trophy in which in the final seconds of play the Cavaliers pulled together to earn a well won victory against Warren Willson College. Another significant event was when the team was able to travel to Phoenix, Arizona for the Phoenix Shootout. Although some of the top Junior Colleges in the nation were present, the Montreat team held its own and finished seventh out of sixteen teams. These as well as many other examples of team play and good sportsmanship gave Montreat a reputation of being a "unique" team, and as always the Cavaliers are the pride of Montreat Campus and its students.

Kelly Smith heads to the basket, trying to keep the team ahead.

The Lady Cavaliers were a strong willed, hard fighting team that gave it their all in 1988. Coached by Ms. Patsy Neal these ladies worked hard to portray the fine example of sportsmanship that was shown at games, practice, or any event they participated in. There were many leaders on this team and they did their part to help keep the team working toward their quest for victory. Although there were times when the Lady Cavaliers could not find a flow toward winning, they always kept the faith and tried harder than before. This team has not only been a fine example of true sportsmanship but also has taught its fans a very important lesson. Even at times when things look impossible, by going to the limit and giving it your all, you will always be victorious.

VOLLEYBALL

The 1988 Volleyball Team was a very young and unexperienced team. This was the first year that Juniors and Seniors have played on the team since Montreat became a four-year college. However, the team was still composed of mostly Freshmen.

The team finished up the season 7 wins 13 losses, which on paper is not very impressive, but the behind the scenes stats show much improvement from past years. Improvements made because of dedication and hard work. The loss of some key players at the beginning of the season forced some players to step in and take more responsibility than usual, and fortunately they were able to handle the pressure.

The captains of the 1988 Volleyball team were Carol Fox and Paula Johnson. The improvements that the team made and the success it had is due to a team effort with much outstanding plays by Gracie Mann and Tammy Bryson.

SOCCER

The 1988 Montreat Anderson Soccer Team ... a "unique" group that began the season as a team of individuals — very talented, skilled individuals. Yet we played as "individuals" not as a team. We learned the power, or rather lack of it, that comes from playing as individuals in our first few games. We lost. Team members Peter Silen and Hugh Hutchinson as well as Coach Friedrichson, tried desperately to teach us the importance of being a team. On the field Peter and Hugh "talked" to everyone and slowly we began "talking" to each other and in result be-gain working as a team.

I'm not sure where the turning point was, but it was clearly visible. I saw us passing to each other, trusting each other, relying on each other and scoring. The first time we lost 6 to 0. As we played we played as individuals. The second time we played them it was Homecoming, tension was high as well as spirits. After a hard fought battle the Cavaliers pulled off a 3 to 2 victory for the Homecoming crowd. We played as a team! Although we did not have a "winning" season, we learned to play as a team. That alone made us "winners".

DEDICATION

DAVID PARKS

The 1988-89 Agapé is dedicated to our professor and friend, Dr. Parks, who we Love, Admire and Respect.

The M-AC students

The person we honor is known by many names and titles. To his family, it is "Dad". To missionaries, he is a fellow missionary with a great commitment. To members of churches he has served over the years, he is known as "Pastor." To students, he is known as a friend, a counselor, and professor. To faculty and administration, he is "Dr. Parks," and to some of us, "Dean Parks." The title he deserves above all is "Christian." He is indeed a kind, caring and loving person.

Dr. Parks served in World War II. He has worked in industry. He is an ordained Presbyterian minister and has served overseas as a missionary. As a missionary, he was active in church planting, working with a language committee, and was chairman of the mission group in Korea. He served as an advisor to the Christian Broadcasting System and designed and fabricated a shortwave transmitter to link the five mission stations into one network.

Dr. Parks has been an active leader in the Presbyterian Church. He has served on many committees and boards. He is a friend, a colleague, and an outstanding leader for Montreat-Anderson College.

Silas M. Vaughn
President

Dr. Parks exemplifies both to students and colleagues the personification of Christianity. Year after year, while teaching he has won the hearts and respect of others. That winsome smile underneath his brilliant red hair is a look that warms everyone's heart. His genuine love and concern for others is demonstrated far beyond superficiality into real deeds and service and counsel.

In addition to his tenure of service to the college, he has distinguished himself both as a father and churchman. It is no wonder, with his busy schedule, that he rarely finds time to pursue his hobbies, such as flying small airplanes and repairing old vehicles.

Rarely in our lives are we privileged to know and work with such sensitive and caring people. I consider it a real honor to be Dr. Parks' friend and associate.

Larry Wilson

Vice President/Dean of the College

It has been a joy to get to know David Parks these past three years as a friend, colleague and brother-in-Christ. I am particularly impressed with his gently strength, kindness, warmth and politeness. He has deep concern for Montreat-Anderson College and is eager to teach and live out the truth and Good News for Jesus Christ before our students, staff and faculty.

T. Michael McDowell
Dean of Student Affairs

The Yearbook staff would like to thank those people who gave special input to this edition: Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, Lou Johnson, Ellza Jones, Jeff Kuhn, John Stiles, Greg Howard, Carol Ann Fox, Janet Grogan, Janet Cook, Anita Webb, Stephanie Schaefer, Jackie Beaver, Kristine Buckwalter, Linda Delgado, Tracey Sauls, Mickey McKinney, Matt Auten, Tom McMurtry, Beth Whitlock, Melania Aguirre, Rebecca Burke, Ben Fortson, Jay Barum and those who have helped by contributing pictures.

Creating a memory is an easy, natural function for all of us, but putting that memory on paper is a slight bit harder. A yearbook is our reflection of the school year, and all our experiences which it held. I hope that through the 1988-89 Agape, a memory is recorded for each student and this yearbook will symbolize your year at Montreat-Anderson College.

The yearbook staff hopes that you will accept our apologies for the lack of coverage in certain areas, such as sports. Due to our deadline schedule, any events second semester cannot be covered. This of course is a burden to us, as we are required to complete the entire yearbook first semester. The staff worked hard to give a broad view of Montreat-Anderson and we hope, even with the circumstances, you are satisfied. Many people had a hand in helping create this edition, through suggestions photographs, writing copy or just support. There were many times when I felt like quitting, but there was always someone to give me a word of encouragement. Most of the time that person was Lauren Ayer, who took on more responsibility than was asked and eased the load (and stress) of both Marc and myself. I can say honestly that the one reason Marc and I completed this without a nervous breakdown was our faith in our Heavenly Father who gave us strength and much more to endure. I have had fun working on a project such as this, and hope that I have recorded the history of Montreat in the past two years successfully. This was my last year as editor and I would like to thank the student body for giving me this opportunity to take on the challenge of transcribing the memories which you create.

God Bless You,
Michelle Thomas
